NEWS! Congratulations to all the Gotcha Winners for January. They will be treated to a Golden Gotcha Luncheon with Mrs. Sobkowiak on Tuesday, February 20th. Students attending this luncheon from our class are Jada Ellis, McKenzie Aldana, Aris Brown, and Trevon West.

Our First Grade Field trip will be on Friday, March 30, 2007 to see a live production of Charlotte's Web at The Drama Group Studio. The cost of this trip is $5.00. Permission slips and the $5.00 will need to be turned in by Tuesday, February 27th. If you need another permission slip, please let me know.

To celebrate Black History month we will complete a research project. Students will pick a famous African American person or inventor to research and present to the class. Projects are due on Monday, February 27, 2007. I hope this project will be both fun and educational.

Our reading story this week is called "My Robot." We will be making a robot in class and have a writing activity describing how our robot looks and what it can do.

This week in Science we will be studying animals. We will be learning what kinds of animals there are, how they move, what an animal needs, what are baby animals like, what is an insect and the parts of an ant.

In Social Studies, we will learn that a community is a place where people live and work. Students hopefully will develop an appreciation for the work performed by people in the community.

Don't forget Book Bee Night on Thursday, March 8th. Also, the PTA is having a cookie dough fundraiser. Please help support our PTA by placing your order and sending it in by Monday, February 26th.

Parents, your child may need a sweater or a long-sleeved top to wear in school. The weather has been extremely cold and sometimes the children get a little cold in class.

Longwood School will have a parent involvement night on Wednesday, February 21, 2007, 6:15 to 7:30pm. The focus will be on nutritional eating for adults and children. Children will also join with their parents for a demonstration of fitness exercises. So parents don't forget to bring your children with you for a fun family night!!

Finally, a special thanks to the parents that sent in extra "treats" for our Valentine Day Party. We had a lot of fun and the class enjoyed exchanging Valentines.
